

AS I have checked my research writing skills, the following points <sup>have been</sup> analysed.

I have more challenged in different points in language of writing. For instance, paraphrasing and writing for conclusion is very difficult area for me. Next, writing abstract, problem statements, results, recommendations and identifying common errors are difficult for me. So that I should have improve my <sup>research</sup> writing depending on the above points. But I have no difficult and fairly difficult in writing background, objectives, citing, methodology part, making discussion and making discourse markers or transitional words and phrases.
